

FSEA Spring Meeting Call for Papers!

The Florida Society of Environmental Analysts will host its annual Spring Meeting on May 23 – 25, 2012 at the Marriott Suites Clearwater Beach on Sand Key.

FSEA is soliciting abstracts on environmental laboratory topics of interest to all environmental laboratory stakeholders.

The abstract should deal with new concepts or novel applications of established concepts. It may describe substantial improvements of existing techniques or present new data in support and extension of these techniques. Comparative and/or supportive data should be included.

The adequacy of an abstract will be evaluated and papers not selected may be considered for the Society's 2012 Fall Meeting. Papers are intended as educational tools and should focus on the technical aspect(s) of the product or service presented. Submitted abstracts determined to emphasize sales over technical value will not be considered.

Abstracts should be 150 words or less and must be solicited electronically (Word or PDF) to the host and program coordinator at fsea@earthlink.net no later than December 31, 2011.

We look forward to hearing from you!
